

When to use the NIHR logo

Materials representing collaboration between two or more NIHR organisations (e.g. an event hosted by NIHR Cambridge BRC and NIHR Cambridge CRF)

You then refer to individual parts of the NIHR in your body copy

You must use the main NIHR logo and not individual sub-logos

All NIHR logos appear in the top left-hand side of the publication / webpage

When to use the sub-logo

To be used on materials (including presentations, posters, reports and webpages) that promote research that the NIHR organisation you are representing has fully or partly supported or funded

Place on the top left and include the disclaimer (below) at the bottom

Download sub-logos for: CBRC, BioResource, CRF

When to use the Funded

or Supported logo

You work for another organisation but the research that you are promoting has been wholly or partly funded or supported by the NIHR (including Cambridge BRC)

- Use your institution's templates (e.g. CUH, UoC, CRUK, MRC etc.)
- Mention NIHR Cambridge BRC/ BioResource/ CRF in the body of the text
- Use either the Funded/ Supported logo at the bottom
- Include an 'acknowledgement relationship statement' and 'disclaimer' (below) at the bottom
- NEVER use the Funded/ Supported logos in document headers or to displace the leading brand on materials
- Examples of where these logos can be used include: study recruitment materials, communications and research dissemination materials, websites, presentations, consent forms and patient questionnaires
- Sub-logos and funded/ supported logos cannot appear together
- Download Funded/ Supported logos

Using current materials with the old logos

- Websites updated by 20 May, 2019
- Remove the colour bar
- Stop using old logos
- Materials with the italic NIHR logo (Fig.1) must be updated immediately

- Any materials with the old logo (Fig. 2) can be used until 1 January, 2020

Which colour logo should I use?

There are four versions of the NIHR logo: black; white; colour; and reversed-out. The correct selection depends on the background they will be placed on.
